ASSOCIATION NEWS.

Third of "The Other Wise Man" Series To-morrow.

The lively interest of the first two weeks was increased last Sunday at the young men's meeting held at the Central Y. M. C. A. "The Other Wise Man" from the pen of Dr. Henry Van Dyke is under discussion. Last Sunday the subject was "For the Sake of a Little Child." The meeting was one of the most interesting ever held in the building. To-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the fourth chapter, "The Hidden Way of Sorrow," will be the theme. Mr. Geo. W. Bahlke, a well known insurance man, and Mr. E. C. Fisher, of the American Locomotive Works, will open the discussion. In these young men's meetings the young men are free to take part or not as they please. Young men are most cordially invited to be present and to remain for the social which follows and get acquainted with one another.

The Boys' Sunday Afternoon Club will meet promptly at 2:30 o'clock in the boys' room. After the opening song service the general secretary will speak on "Peter's Answer." The boys of the camp will have returned home, and the meeting ought to be the best of the summer. All boys between eleven and fifteen are cordially invited. The Boys' Bible Study Club will meet this morning at 10 o'clock, and a full attendance is desired.

Camp Brauer, at Ocean View, breaks up this morning. About the time the average citizen of Richmond looks at his paper this morning the boys will have a good start on their journey home. Physical Director Hardy writes that the boys have had a good time, and that there have been no accidents.

The Association Course Committee met Thursday night for a preliminary consideration of the course for the coming season. It was unanimously decided to conduct the thirteenth annual course, opening late in October or early in November. The course of prominent lecturers and musical attractions were considered, and the committee instructed to open correspondence at once. The committee on this season's course is composed of the following well-known gentlemen: Mr. Thomas Branch McAdams, chairman; Messrs. A. A. Booth, L. G. Burruss, T. G. Tabb, C. W. Montgomery, R. H. Willis, secretary; Oscar Swineford, R. M. Kent, Jr., E. S. Evans and A. J. Webster.

The course will consist of eight first-class attractions.

Public Men Here.

Among the public men who are registered in the city are: Senators William P. Barksdale, of Halifax, and William Shands, of Southampton.

INQUIRY STILL BEING PRESSED

Grand Jury Adjourns Over Until Monday Morning.

REPORT EAGERLY AWAITED

More Witnesses Summoned—The Members Working Diligently.

Contrary to expectations, the grand jury did not conclude its inquiry into the alleged election irregularities yesterday, but adjourned until Monday, and asked for the summoning of additional witnesses.

Several witnesses were examined yesterday, and the trunk containing the ballots was carried into the jury room for inspection. Commonwealth's Attorney D. C. Richardson spent several hours with the jury, and a report was anticipated up to the hour of adjournment, but it was not forthcoming.

The grand jury is endeavoring to sift the entire matter to the bottom, and the members are working faithfully over every point which seems to lead to a possible clue to wrongdoing. Without desiring to persecute any one, they and Commonwealth's Attorney Richardson are determined to obey the mandates of the court to find out, if possible, if there has been wrongdoing, and to bring the guilty ones, if any there be, to justice. It is not certain now that the inquiry will end on Monday, though this is not at all unlikely.

Cause of Delay.

What has resulted in prolonging the inquiry up to this point has been the fact that nearly every witness put on the stand would let something drop which called for the summoning of others, and this has kept up an almost endless chain.

Foreman Charles F. Taylor said last night that he had served on many grand juries in his life, and he had never seen one more determined to do its full duty. He praised his colleagues for their care and patience in the matter, and said they were terribly in earnest in their work.

The witnesses summoned for Monday are Mr. Robert Lee Syre, City Sergeant James C. Smith, Messrs. Henry Solomon and Phil B. Sheld.

Dennis O'Dwyer was the first witness yesterday. He remained in the room for a few moments.

Other Witnesses.

Sam Goldstein, better known as "Red Mike," was next. He was with the jury for some time. He was followed by Mr. Chris Manning. Mr. Manning's testimony bore on matters relating to the election in the second precinct of Jefferson Ward.

Former City Sergeant H. Claiborne Epps testified briefly, and then the trunk containing the ballots was taken into the room. It is said the ballots in certain precincts will be examined with a view to finding out if there is any irregularity in the counting of any considerable number of them.

The results of the inquiry are still being awaited with deepest interest by the public.

HONOR GENERAL PAYNE.

Monument to His Memory to Be Unveiled Next Week.

The handsome monument to the memory of General William H. Payne, is to be unveiled at Warrenton about August 1st. The inscription in bronze at the front is:

"Not for empire nor renown, but for right and Commonwealth."
The memory of William H. Payne, son of Arthur Mason Payne and Mary Mason Fitzhugh; born Jan. 27, 1830; died March 29, 1904. He entered the Confederate service as a captain of the Black Horse troop and rose to be brigadier-general of the Second brigade of Fitzhugh Lee's division; was wounded and left on the field of Williamsburg, May 5, 1862; wounded again at Hanover, near Gettysburg, in July, 1863.

The seal of the Confederate States of America with the words, "Deo Vincite," is at the top of the inscription. Another inscription of the monuments with the seal of Virginia, at the top, reads as follows:

"In war and in peace, the soldier of Virginia's honor, this loyal son of his State won the absorbing passion of his life—the motive of every action, the inspiration of every feeling. He loved Virginia with a love brought from out the historic past. There was no pulse in his ambition, whose beatings were not measured from her heart."

ORDER OF BUFFALOES.

Plan on Foot to Organize a Herd in Richmond.

The new Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, which is spreading so rapidly over the country, and which is represented in Virginia in Norfolk, Newport News, Portsmouth, Suffolk, Lynchburg and Roanoke, is now being organized in Richmond. The last installation was at Suffolk, and the members of Norfolk and Portsmouth attended and officiated at the institution.

Some two hundred Richmond gentlemen have been nominated by friends in these other cities as desirable parties to form the charter list. Mr. R. E. Gregg, the organizer, has secured the signatures of about sixty of these, and present indications are that the order will start with as many as more than Norfolk, viz., one hundred and fifty members.

On the night of installation, the order will be definitely set at the first preliminary meeting, invitations will be extended to members in the other Virginia cities, and from one to two hundred visitors are expected. The Norfolk herd now consists of two hundred men, and the larger part have already determined to come, and are looking forward with considerable pleasure to the event.

If present plans materialize, a banquet at one of the hotels will be given to celebrate the occasion.

All of the base-ball players who went to Norfolk and Emporia this week have returned and are ready for the two games here to-day, the first of which begins at 2:45 o'clock on the Broad Street diamond.

The first game to-day will be between the Brownies and the Barton Heights team. Manchester and Richmond will face each other in the second game.

Hatcher will be in the box for the champions and Brooks will do the twirling for the Highlanders. Leake and Crawford will oppose each other in the second game and both are confident of winning if the support given them is of a good order.

In Norfolk the ball players met with a cool reception. None of the players from the team there associated with the visitors, nor was the crowd with them at all, until the last day. Several of the men who went down were, it is said, insulted on the streets and at the park by those in sympathy with the Norfolk team that was getting so badly defeated. The champions were so badly ball-sung on, however, and they won good games with fast work.

The games to-day will be witnessed by a crowd that will be larger than on any Saturday since the opening of the league. Throughout the city there is great interest manifested in the players. A crowd went away, and there will be a crowd of rosters present to make things lively to-day.

GOVERNOR IN CHARLOTTE

All the Candidates Have Important Political Engagements.

Governor Montague spent yesterday in his office, looking after official business. He will leave for Drake's Branch this morning, where to-day he will speak in the interest of the senatorial candidates. The Governor, Captain Willard and Mr. Swanson and perhaps others will speak at Houston (Halifax County) on Monday. Senator Martin will speak in Newport News to-night, and Mr. Swanson will address the citizens of Gloucester to-day. Captain Willard is winding up his campaign in the Southwest, and will speak at Ashbury tomorrow morning. Judge Mann will speak at Amherst Courthouse to-night. He is making a most able canvass, and is carrying as much ground as any one in the fight. All the candidates have a number of engagements for next week.

REGATTA AUGUST 26TH.

Arundel Boat Club Accepts Challenge to Meet Va. Boat Club.

The most encouraging news was brought back by Mr. G. B. Guvenator, secretary of Beach Park, who has been to Baltimore, Md., and arranged all matters for what promises to be one of the events of this season.

The Arundel Boat Club, of Baltimore, Md., and the Virginia Boat Club, of this city, will race on Saturday, August 26th. There will be several entries of different classes of rigs, which will be announced later, after Captain Shelton, of the Virginia Boat Club, and Captain Thomas, of the Arundel Boat Club, have consulted.

The annual meeting of the Association of Commissioners of Agriculture of the Southern States will be held in this city October 10-13th. A large attendance is expected. Commissioner G. W. Koiner, of Staunton, is president of the organization. The body meets during Horse Show here.

Wife Beater Jailed.

Convicted of cruelly beating his wife, Lonnie Woodson, a white man, was yesterday fined $10 and costs by Judge J. T. Lewis, of Henrico county, and required to give security in the sum of $50 for his good behavior for twelve months. Lonnie went to jail.

Suits Against the City.

In the Law and Equity Court yesterday suits were filed against the City of Richmond by the Corporation Investment Company, for $1,500, and by J. B. Howe for $1,000.

The declarations have not been filed, but the plaintiffs will sue for the overflow of water from the city's culverts.

Mr. Wright Changes Business.

Mr. Wyndham W. Wright, who has, for many years, been connected with an insurance company of this city, has accepted a position with the big contracting firm of Messrs. Winston and Company, New York, where Winston and Company have a million and a quarter contract.

FEILD KILLED HIMSELF.

Theory of Foul Play Unsubstantiated, and Accidental Death Likely.

By the finding of the money heretofore unaccounted for along with his night-latch key and his pocket-knife, the theory of foul play in the death of John Feild has been exploded, and the question now for settlement is whether the death was an accident or not. The money was found in a suit of clothes left at his home. His night-latch key was found in his pocket, and his pocket-knife was at his place of business.

Great stress has been laid upon the fact that the young man had no money, even on his night key at the time of his death, and it was argued that he had been held up and robbed and afterwards killed when he resisted one of the robbers.

With the discovery that the money and keys had been accounted for, the theory of murder, Detective McMahon has been diligently at work for several days and in fact every possible clue. He is confident that murder was not committed, and that the young man came to death either by an accident or suicide.

However, friends of the deceased stoutly maintain that the death was a plausible. They adhere to the belief that he was murdered, and claim that there was no motive for the crime. They claim that he was well-acquainted with firearms and accidentally shot himself in the breast.

The tragedy will perhaps never be known, since there appears to have been no eye-witness, and there is no evidence of a purpose to end his own life, and as far as known no provocation for self-slaughter.
